WORK SAMPLE | CAMPAIGN ANALYSIS

Meta Lead-Generation Campaign, Home-Services Client, Ottawa

Farzi Belasi | Marketing Strategist, MYA Media | August 10 to October 1, 2026

219	$8.77	$10.79
total leads generated	overall cost per lead	cost per lead in the opening phase

The campaign

A home-services company in Ottawa was running Meta lead-generation ads for two of its services, retractable screens and pet doors. I owned the campaign strategy, structure, budget, and weekly reporting at MYA Media. The opening phase performed well, producing 50 leads at a cost per lead of $10.79.

The change

Mid-campaign, the client changed direction. Rather than promoting two services, they decided to focus on just one: retractable screens. The brief became a rebuild, not a tweak, and it had to happen without pausing lead flow.

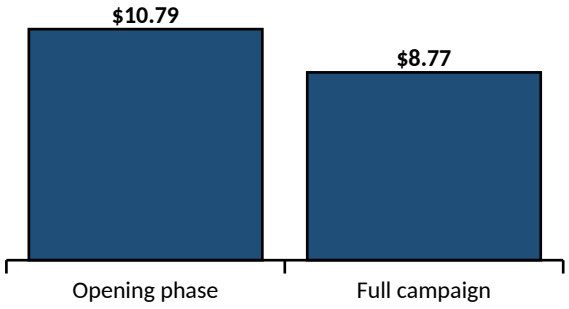
What I did

I paused the dropped service, moved the full budget behind the chosen one, and rebuilt the ad set structure around the single priority so that every dollar and every report tracked the one service the client now wanted to sell. I then reset the weekly reporting around that priority and monitored cost per lead closely through the transition, so the client could see, week by week, that the new focus was holding and improving.

The result

The campaign finished with 219 leads at an overall cost per lead of $8.77, down from $10.79 in the opening phase, with the full budget behind the client's chosen service for the remainder of the run.

Cost per lead, before and after the rebuild



My role: campaign strategy, structure, budget reallocation, and performance reporting. Ad creative was produced by a separate creative team. Client name withheld; figures are campaign totals only, with no customer data included.